John's gospel was written by one of Jesus' closest friends, less as a historical account of Jesus' life than an account of Jesus' teaching and work – there is no account of his birth or childhood – most of the gospel revolves around the last week of Jesus' life and the vital question of who Jesus was. John states that he wrote this account “that you may believe that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name”. The verses used in this calendar are Jesus' own words about himself, using metaphors to relate spiritual truths to our everyday experiences. The references are included, so that the reader can see the wider context and better understand who Jesus really was.

This collection of photographs is not meant to be representative of Montenegro as a whole – the country is perhaps more renowned for its coast – but follows my own exploration of the country over the last year. Although Montenegro is only a small country, it is bursting with more natural beauty and variety than much larger countries, yet all easily accessible for day trips. These photographs are by no means the work of a professional, but are a record of my hobby of mountaineering and hiking. In these photographs the sheer beauty of the landscapes could not be ruined by my amateurish attempts to capture them.
